

Your Quick Guide to Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2015

What's New?

As part of Microsoft's effort to continually improve their offering, they recently released the latest incarnation of their ERP software; Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2015.

Designed to help small to medium sized businesses streamline their day-to-day operations and get the best out of their ERP system, Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2015 features a number of key improvements with very little change to the actual architecture of the software.

The Key Benefits

There are three significant improvements;

- Better use of advanced upgrade tools
- Supporting the use of mobile devices
- Better integration with other Microsoft programs

For anyone currently using Microsoft Dynamics NAV or considering implementing it for the first time, these developments

Even Quicker Implementation

Improvements to the RapidStart implementation and upgrade methodology help Microsoft Dynamics NAV partners lower the cost and reduce the time needed to move new clients onto the software and upgrade existing clients.

Improved User Experience

Faster access to business critical information improves the end user experience, increasing productivity. Personalised home pages give users access to the most important data on easy-to-read dashboards and Role Centers.

Mobile Enhancements

Small and mid-size businesses can now access company data and processes wherever they are and whatever mobile or tablet device they choose to use. This will lower ownership costs, increase flexibility, and increase profits.

Improved Reporting

The ability to change the design and layout of document reports and invoices has been drastically simplified. Modifications can now be made easily using Microsoft Word, without the need for additional technical support.

Quicker Payments

A number of specific changes reduce the amount of time spent managing the whole process of debt collection, electronic payments and automated account reconciliation. This means that you will get paid faster by your customers. These changes include:

- Easier bank integration
